BEAUTY, FASHION AND PUBLISHING INDUSTRIES UNITE TO SUPPORT WOMEN WITH CANCER AT ANNUAL DREAMBALL

The Estée Lauder Companies' Daniel M. Annese and Shiseido Americas' Marc Rey Honored

Tamron Hall of NBC News and MSNBC Will Host Gala Benefitting the Look Good Feel Better® Program

September 19, 2016, New York, New York – The Personal Care Products Council Foundation and the American Cancer Society announced today the details for the 32nd annual DreamBall, to be held on Wednesday, September 28 at Cipriani, 42nd Street, in New York City. The annual DreamBall gala benefits the Look Good Feel Better program. For 27 years, Look Good Feel Better has been the only free, nationwide program dedicated to helping cancer patients address the appearance side effects of treatment to improve their self-esteem and confidence. Look Good Feel Better is offered through a collaboration of the Personal Care Products Council Foundation, the American Cancer Society and the Professional Beauty Association.

This year the event will honor two outstanding beauty industry leaders: Daniel M. Annese, Global Brand President, Aramis and Designer Fragrances, The Estée Lauder Companies, and Marc Rey, President and CEO of Shiseido Americas. Tamron Hall, co-host of the third hour of NBC News' "TODAY" and anchor of "MSNBC Live," will serve as the Mistress of Ceremonies.

As The Estée Lauder Companies' Global Brand President of Aramis and Designer Fragrances, Daniel Annese leads a portfolio of seven prestige fragrance brands, including Donna Karan/DKNY, Michael Kors, Tommy Hilfiger, Tory Burch, Ermenegildo Zegna, Kiton and Aramis. He and his team work closely with these designers along with expert perfumers from leading fragrance companies to transform each Designer's unique vision into fragrances that are marketed around the world. A 35-year beauty industry veteran, Mr. Annese has spent 22 years with The Estée Lauder Companies where he is credited with broad skills in portfolio management, strong team development, and strategic leadership to optimize brands, regions and markets around the world. He has been a longtime supporter of the Look Good Feel Better program, and has been involved since the early years of the program.

"It is truly an honor to be recognized at this year's DreamBall benefitting the Look Good Feel Better program, an event that brings together organizations that are committed to bettering the lives of women, a mission that is so much a part The Estée Lauder Companies."

In his role since September, 2015, Shiseido Americas President and CEO Marc Rey is responsible for overseeing and managing the Shiseido Group's brands and businesses in the Americas region, including Shiseido Cosmetics America, Beauté Prestige International USA, NARS Cosmetics, Bare Escentuals, Laura Mercier and RéVive, as well as the company's subsidiaries in Canada and Brazil. He also oversees the company's Global Makeup Center of Excellence, responsible for growing the makeup category worldwide, as well as the company's Global Digital Center of Excellence created to strengthen the Shiseido Group's digital capabilities worldwide. Mr. Rey also serves on the company's global executive committee. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Personal Care Products Council and the Personal Care Products Council Foundation, and in his Board capacity has supported Look Good Feel Better for a number of years, beginning during his tenure with YSL Beauté, and continuing into the present.

“I am really grateful and deeply moved to be recognized at this year’s Dream Ball. Look Good Feel Better is such a genuine and generous initiative. I have to say I am particularly proud to be honored while heading Shiseido Americas. Shiseido is a company where care, generosity and respect for others have always been a part of our core values,” said Rey.

Also being honored at the event are two “DreamGirls” and Look Good Feel Better participants: Tony and Grammy nominated Broadway star Valisia LeKae, and teen sensation and America’s Got Talent semi-finalist Calysta Bevier. The two inspiring ovarian cancer survivors and nationally renowned singers will share their stories on stage, and perform together at the event.

“The DreamBall is extraordinarily important for Look Good Feel Better, as it raises the majority of the funds that make it possible to help 50,000 women annually to feel strong, beautiful and in control during cancer treatment,” said Louanne Roark, Executive Director of the Personal Care Products Council Foundation and Look Good Feel Better. “We are so proud to honor industry veterans and longstanding Look Good Feel Better supporters Marc Rey and Daniel Annese, and our two extraordinary DreamGirls, and so grateful for the continued support of so many in the beauty, fashion and publishing industries who make our program possible.”

“At the American Cancer Society, we regularly hear from patients that the aesthetic side effects that accompany treatment for ovarian cancer, or any cancer, can be emotionally debilitating,” said Kris Kim, Executive Vice President and Eastern Division Operating Officer for the American Cancer Society. “The Look Good Feel Better Program helps alleviate this anxiety, so women can refocus their attention on healing.”

The DreamBall will be immediately followed by the signature DreamBall After Dark, a special after-hours event aimed at engaging the next generation of philanthropic leaders within and beyond the beauty industry in support of the Look Good Feel Better program. Guests will enjoy cocktails, hors d’oeuvres, a silent auction and music by DJ Jasmine Chess.
